

Kitchen Porter

Free breakfast, lunch & snacks
Friendly & professional working environment

Wallacespace provides brighter thinking spaces for off-site meetings, training, workshops and events. Founded in 2002, we now have 4 beautiful buildings in Central London, each welcoming up to 200 clients per day. The success of our business is rooted in the strong relationships we have with our clients. Beyond the spaces we offer, we aim to delight with our can-do attitude and proactive service. Everyone who works at Wallacespace shares this objective; our whole being is client centric.

About the role

Our Kitchen Porters are an essential part of our kitchen spaces. Not just delivering great back of house service the role also involves supporting our chefs preparing our fresh and healthy lunches. This diverse role will be suitable for someone who thrives working in a busy environment. General washing up and cleaning are an essential part of the role.

About you

- Hospitality experience – working in a fast paced environment, being able to think on your feet and maintain our kitchen spaces
- Proof of ability and attitude – always putting the client's needs first 'people over process'
- Collaboration – being able follow instructions and support the team
- Excellent communication skills – being able to communicate clearly with colleagues
- Hygiene and food safety – monitoring HACCP checks and reporting back to Caffe Managers
- Working within a team – being able to share tasks and duties, communication between departments
